BASE PAY

On September 23, 2002, Council passed Bylaw 31M2002 which established the Council Compensation Review Committee (CCRC). This Committee is responsible for making recommendations to Council regarding its pay, pension, benefits and other forms of compensation, or levels thereof.

CCRC’s were subsequently formed every few years to market benchmark Council compensation and make recommendations for changes.

In July 2006, Council accepted the CCRC recommendation to use the annual change in the Alberta Average Weekly Earnings (AWE) as the basis for future pay increases and to increase Council pay by 6% effective as of Oct 22, 2007). The AWE formula has been used ever since.

On May 29, 2017, Council accepted CCRC’s recommendation that “Council vote, before each election, to accept or reject the use of the Alberta Average Weekly Earnings (AWE) indicator for the next four year term” and its recommendation to reduce the Mayor’s salary by 6% to $200,747 and to leave the Councillor salary at $113,416.

For 2018, the AWE change was -0.08% and Councillor pay was reduced to $113,325.63 and the Mayor’s pay reduced to $200,586.40

On Nov 18, 2019, Council voted to freeze its pay for 2020.

On Nov 2, 2020, Council agreed to freeze its pay for 2021 and to apply the AWE formula for the next Council.

As of January 01, 2022, based on AWE, Council pay increased 1.60 % to $115,138.84 for Councillors and 203,795.78 for the Mayor.

TRANSITION ALLOWANCE

On July 14, 1997, Council created a “resettlement severance allowance” for Members of Council which would provide a payment equivalent to two weeks pay for each year in office, up to a maximum of six months, if they either retire, voluntarily leave elected office or are defeated in an election. It was to be called a Transition Allowance.

On November 7, 2000, Council increased the ceiling for the Transition Allowance for elected officials to 26 years of service at two weeks per year.

CCRCs in 2006 and 2012 noted that Calgary’s Transition Allowance was in line with what was offered by other municipalities.

The CCRC, in 2017, proposed the elimination of the Transition Allowance but Council rejected this proposal on May 29, 2017.

On Nov 2, 2020, based on a recommendation of the CCRC, Council agreed to reduce the maximum number of weeks of Transition Allowance to 26 for those who resign or do not run, applicable for the next Council.

WORKERS’ COMPENSATION BOARD (WCB) COVERAGE

All members of Council are covered by The City of Calgary’s Workers’ Compensation Board account. This means that should a member of Council experience a work-related injury or illness, WCB Alberta will provide wage replacement and medical treatment at no cost to the Council member. The maximum amount that can be paid out in wage replacement is set by WCB and for 2022 the maximum is approximately $1,250 per week. Monies received by the member of Council for wage replacement from WCB are non-taxable.

An unreduced pension is available at age 60, while a reduced pension may start at minimum age of 55 and is reduced by 3% for each year prior to attainment of age 60. A 2/3 pension continues to the surviving spouse on the retired member’s death.
