Your Guide to a Winter-Ready Patio

As the temperature drops, Calgary businesses and community associations have a unique opportunity to turn the chill into charm by creating inviting winter patios. Outdoor patio spaces that stay open year-round not only provide a unique winter experience for patrons but also offer businesses and community associations an avenue to boost revenue and foster community connection during the colder months.

With the right setup – think warmth, ambiance and winter-themed activations – these patios, whether privately owned or community-driven, can transform into vibrant social hubs where people gather to enjoy Calgary's winter atmosphere. ## Quick Tips for Making Your Patio Winter Ready

Design and Planning Ideas

Aesthetics

- Create a theme.
- Outdoor music speakers, DJs, guided craft stations, sport (i.e., shuffleboard, curling, crokicurl), tabletop games/sports (i.e., gaming clubs), immersive experiences, patio tour with passport, snowman building (even if Styrofoam), encouraging patio theming to make them a destination and passport opportunity.
- Offer family friendly programming during the day (i.e., artist workshops).
- Colour, colour, and a bit more colour – maybe some sparkles, too!

Capture the Sun

- Orient your patio to get as much direct sun as possible.
- Shaded? Then reflect light into your space! That can be just as warming.
- Moveable furnishings allow people to orient themselves as they need.

Shelter (especially from the wind and downdrafts)

- Awnings.
- Curtains.
- Decorative evergreens.
- Louvres.
- Moveable screens.
- See-through panels.
- Note: Glass panels are not recommended particularly downtown.

Snow Removal and Storage

- Plan for what to do during and after a big snowfall.
- Can you use it or store it somewhere that people can create with it?

Lights and Music

- Colour changing LED lights are fun and can be changed to match your aesthetic each night.
- Music lets those passing by know you are open and having fun!
- LED candles and lanterns.
- Surfaces with reflective paint.
- Garland.

Warming the Body

- Blankets and pillows (fleece and colourful, of course).
- Winter appropriate furniture (i.e., tables, chairs, benches, couches, waterproof coverings – if not waterproof already, baskets for blankets).
- Space warming elements (i.e., heaters, fire tables, fireplaces, fire pits).
- Patron comforts (i.e., cushions, blankets, tablecloths).

Warming the Spirit

- Comfort foods like stews, chilis, curries, and casseroles. Don't forget the hot desserts!
- Craft hot drinks or warm cocktails.
- Prewarm dishes to help the food stay warm longer.

Benefits of Winter Patios

Extended Revenue Opportunities

Maximized Use of Space: Winter patios allow restaurants, bars, and cafés to extend their seating capacity beyond the indoor space, accommodating more customers, even during inclement weather.

Seasonal Appeal: Many people enjoy the novelty of dining outdoors in winter, especially with cozy atmospheres created by heaters, string lights, and blankets.

Improved Customer Experience

Unique Ambiance: A well-designed winter patio can create a memorable experience. The charm of outdoor lighting, festive decorations, and warm drinks can make an ordinary outing feel special.

Safe Dining Option: Winter patios provide a comfortable alternative for those adverse to dining indoors.

Strengthened Community Engagement

Increased Foot Traffic: Winter patios, especially in a downtown setting, encourage people to linger and explore other nearby businesses. This can lead to a lively atmosphere that benefits the entire local economy.

Events and Attractions: Businesses and community associations can host seasonal events like holiday markets, live performances, or themed nights, drawing in crowds who might not otherwise visit in colder months.

Brand Differentiation

Stand Out from Competitors: Offering a cozy, well-designed winter patio can differentiate a business from others that may close outdoor spaces in the colder months.

Social Media Appeal: Instagram-worthy setups with blankets, string lights, and hot beverages encourage patrons to share their experience online, giving businesses free marketing.

Sustainability and Community Support

Support for Local Economy: Keeping outdoor spaces open in the winter can help retain jobs and ensure steady income for businesses that could otherwise struggle during slow seasons.

Sustainable Practices: Investing in energy-efficient heaters and eco-friendly designs for patios can appeal to environmentally conscious consumers while supporting a business's long-term sustainability goals.
