

Bearspaw South Feeder Main – Shaganappi Pump Station Work

October 6, 2026

The City of Calgary is accelerating the replacement of the Bearspaw South Feeder Main and making necessary repairs to the existing feeder main to strengthen the reliability of Calgary's water infrastructure. As part of this project, pipe connection work is required at the Shaganappi Pump Station. Work is expected to begin on October 8, 2026.

Construction details

- Work will be ongoing from October 8 through December 2026.
- Crews have closed the south section of the Riverside Club overflow parking lot, and will excavate and conduct pipe connection work starting October 19.
- This work will require the removal of up to eight City-owned trees, on the south side of the Riverside Club overflow parking lot. Replacement trees will be planted nearby, but not above the pipe.

Where we are working

- The Riverside Club overflow parking lot, south of the intersection at Shaganappi Trail and Bowness Rd N.W. (see map on page 2).

Construction impacts

As a resident or business in the community, you should expect the following impacts:

- Lighting, noise and construction vehicles and traffic.
- River pathway detours (see map on page 3).
- There are no impacts to residential water supply.
- Work will occur during regular construction hours, although there is a possibility of some 24/7 operations.
- Residents affected by overnight or 24/7 work can access support and sleep-kit items through the BSFM Community Resource Centre team (contact information below).
